

THE CENTER AT BELVEDERE 2026 ANNUAL REPORT

COMMUNITY IMPACT: BY THE NUMBERS

OUR MISSION

The Center creates opportunities for healthy aging through social connection, physical well-being, civic engagement, creativity, and lifelong learning. We believe that empowering older adults to improve their health and well-being—to live their lives to the fullest—benefits individuals, their families, and our community, and we work to make this a reality for all.

FY26 Financial Data

The Center receives no regular funding from local, state, or federal governments and is sustained financially through diverse revenue streams from both philanthropy and earned income. Philanthropic support also provides scholarship funds for seniors who express financial need.

The Opportunity to Age Well

Since 1960, The Center has created opportunities for older adults to support their health, stay active, volunteer, and, most importantly, build friendships that support their well-being. Over our many years as a nonprofit community center, tens of thousands of older adults have found their unique path to aging well. These stories illustrate just a few of those paths and the discoveries made along the way.

“I had no idea how much I would grow to need this place.”

Indra Paul and his wife Marjie visited The Center while scouting Charlottesville as a possible retirement location and knew at once that moving here and joining The Center would give them ample opportunities to meet people, stay active, learn, and volunteer. Indra quickly got involved in different pursuits, helping maintain the rose and pollinator gardens, attending engaging discussion programs like Kindred Spirits and Socrates Café, and joining a weekly men's group.

Seven months after becoming members, Indra was diagnosed with cancer. Then, just as he and Marjie decided on his treatment plan, Marjie passed away in her sleep. When Indra returned to his weekly men's group at The Center, the guys asked where he'd been. He answered simply, “My wife died.”

Over the next days, weeks, and months, these men—strangers a short time ago—called to check on him, took him to his radiation treatments, and walked with him in his grief. Those buddies became true friends. Indra reflects, “When I joined The Center, I had no idea how much I would grow to need this place.”

Now cancer-free, Indra regularly attends several Center programs each week. He also gives back to the community that embraced him by volunteering as a board member for The Center, as well as for Charlottesville Tree Stewards and the Insight Meditation Community of Charlottesville. Thinking about his life today, Indra shares, “I don't know how I would have made it without this community. The Center provides new beginnings.”

"I'm still taking care of people."

Most Thursdays, Jean Baker works her weekly shift as a Lobby Ambassador at The Center. Volunteers are central to The Center's ability to provide its healthy aging programming, and Lobby Ambassadors play a vital role in ensuring everyone who enters gets a friendly smile and help should they need it. Jean often welcoming members by name. "I've felt so welcome and gotten so much from The Center, I want to be sure others do too," Jean remarks.

"I look at volunteering like I'm still taking care of people," says the former nurse. But volunteering also helps Jean. Decades of research show that older adults who volunteer are happier, have better physical health, and have lower rates of depression than those who don't. Jean agrees, noting "Volunteering gets me out of the house, gives me a purpose, and makes me more social."

Volunteering, pursuing artistic endeavors like woodcarving, improving her strength and balance in fitness classes, and attending her Stroke Support Group make up Jean's preferred wellness mix. It's a science-backed way for Jean to support her health, reduce stress, and build social connections while also providing a much-needed service to The Center and our community."

"The Center has enriched my life beyond measure."

Ross Sargent first visited The Center shortly after becoming a widower. He knew getting out of the house mattered, so he began walking around his neighborhood. One of those walks took him to The Center. Intrigued by the vibrant activity and people, Ross began visiting The Center regularly, bringing a book along but often enjoying talking with a few members. Several months later, during a lively conversation over coffee on the terrace, he realized that The Center is a place where connection comes naturally, and that being here had helped him develop a group of friends he could count on.

Ross found his "third space"—a place where people gather to relax, talk, build relationships, and create community. Ross decided to join The Center. "That decision was and continues to be one of the best I've ever made," he says.

Today, Ross is often in The Center's atrium, reading or talking with friends. He also attends a weekly men's group and works out in the fitness center. "The Center's membership diversity, along with its broad array of classes and events, has enriched my life beyond measure and continues to be a source of joy and comfort in a world that needs so much of both today."

We know social connections are central to successful aging, and The Center is a great place for older adults to build relationships, with no membership required.

PROGRAM HIGHLIGHTS

Advancing healthy aging in our community involves addressing major issues in the field and responding to emerging needs. In Fiscal Year 2026, that included launching new programming for people living with memory changes and the people who care about them and expanding programs that directly support activities of daily life and the ability to maintain independence over time.

FUNCTIONAL FITNESS builds strength, balance, and coordination for the movements we make in everyday life like carrying groceries, climbing stairs, and getting up from a chair. We added several programs in FY26 specifically designed to support functional fitness, including Introduction to Movement, Core Stability and Functional Training, and Strong and Stable. Core Stability students often tell us that within just one week they feel more confident about their ability to avoid falls. Other new fitness programs this year included Sit to Be Fit, Mat Pilates, and Slow and Stretchy Yoga.

DEMENTIA, including Alzheimer's Disease, affects more than 7 million older adults in the U.S., many of whom live in community settings rather than long-term care facilities. To meet the growing needs of this population, The Center works with myriad community partners to foster quality of life for older adults with dementia and their caregivers.

In FY26, The Center joined the Haney Compassionate Care Collaborative and Sentara's Caregiver & Wellness Center Advisory Committee alongside several other community organizations and health care providers. These partnerships allowed us to host educational programs for caregivers including The Empowered Caregiver and Caring for You: Mind, Body and Soul.

We also partnered with Westminster-Canterbury of the Blue Ridge to stage a performance of Dementia Man, Sam Simon's personal story of his own early-stage Alzheimer's diagnosis offering powerful insights into the lived experience of dementia.

Support from Home Instead Senior Care and Visiting Angels made it possible to launch a monthly Memory Café which offers a unique opportunity for people living with dementia and their caregivers to enjoy time together and make social connections.

And finally, building on the latest research about dementia prevention, we invited George Worthington of the Virginia Division for Aging Services to present Healthy Heart, Healthy Brain, demonstrating the link between cardiovascular and brain health and the lifestyle changes that protect both.

Whether community members are looking to reduce their own risk for cognitive decline, support a loved one, or continue engaging with community after a diagnosis, The Center has something to offer.

FACILITY AND OPERATIONAL IMPROVEMENTS

We all love exciting new programs and meaningful impact stories, but successfully pursuing our healthy aging mission also requires tending the nuts and bolts that keep operations running smoothly. FY26 saw a number of improvements to our daily infrastructure, both in our physical space and our digital footprint.

As the number and popularity of Center programs grew, we knew we needed a way to make registration easier and more convenient. At the start of FY26, we introduced My Active Center, an online scheduling system that can be used on any device. Along with improved speed and reliability, as well as the ability to sign up for individual classes providing more flexible attendance options, it includes a personal calendar to help members stay on top of their schedules.

Belvedere neighborhood builder Greenwood Homes generously took on a sidewalk installation project that connected the roadside sidewalk to The Center's back terrace. This made it possible to walk a complete loop around our building. Six loops equals one mile!

Finally, a franchise agreement with Greenberry's Coffee Co. was scheduled to end in June 2025. Offering food and beverage onsite provides a valuable way for older adults to connect, so we didn't want this to be the end of café service at The Center. Thus, in FY26, we unveiled The Center Café to continue providing members and guests with this popular amenity.

TO OUR COMMUNITY OF DONORS, THANK YOU!

The Center gratefully acknowledges every individual, foundation, corporation, and organization that supported healthy aging in our community with their philanthropic gifts in FY26 (April 1, 2025, through March 31, 2026).

Thank you!
