

THE CENTER AT BELVEDERE

2023 ANNUAL REPORT

THE CENTER
AT BELVEDERE

ADVANCING THE VISION

HEALTHY AGING
FOR ALL

The start of fiscal year 2023 coincided with the end of the COVID-19 health emergency, setting the stage for a year of much-anticipated growth in program participation and membership at The Center at Belvedere. Visits to healthy aging programs increased by almost 30% as more older adults sought out social and physical activity, creative pursuits, educational opportunities, and more.

Progress on achieving the outcomes laid out in our strategic and racial equity action plans continued, with an emphasis on developing new relationships with other community-based organizations. Our goal of healthy aging for all depends largely on developing partnerships both to engage the many populations we serve and to provide the increasing number of programs needed for effective public health promotion strategies. The collaborations highlighted here offer a glimpse of the expanded opportunities partnerships offer.

2022–2025 STRATEGIC PLAN

We are moving forward on multiple paths to maximize our impact on community health. In the area of advocacy for age-friendly initiatives, The Center is one of many local groups working on better transportation options for people to get to The Center and other health promotion sites. Advancing equity, board development, and more emphasis on data-driven decision-making drove infrastructure improvements in FY23. And an expansion of operating hours allowed for more in-demand programs, fueled in part by new partnerships.

RACIAL EQUITY ACTION PLAN

While this plan sets a course for three years, positioning diversity, equity, and inclusion as core values of the The Center is “forever” work. Ensuring that all Center policies are free of racial bias and reflect our commitment to advancing equity across all areas was a large part of the work in FY23. Outreach and engagement with community-based organizations included discussions with City of Promise, Public Housing Association of Residents, Piedmont Housing Alliance, and Sin Barreras, with collaborative events taking place in early FY24. The addition and expansion of more culturally diverse programs and experiences continued, as did training for staff and volunteers in equity issues provided by UVA's Division for Diversity, Equity, and Inclusion. Supporting healthy aging for everyone is a priority.

New Evening and Saturday Hours

With the addition of Saturday hours and a third weeknight, healthy aging programming is accessible to many more people, especially older adults who have not yet retired. Art classes, new fitness programs, history presentations, orientations, and recreational activities are some of the weekend offerings area residents have enjoyed.

Sly Mata from UVA's Division for Diversity, Equity, and Inclusion gives a presentation to Center staff.

FY23 FINANCIAL DATA

The Center receives no regular funding from local, state, or federal governments and is sustained financially through diverse revenue streams from both philanthropy and earned income.

Audited numbers of The Center's FY2023 finances are expected to be released in November 2023.

IMPACT

The Center's mission is to positively impact our community by creating opportunities for healthy aging through social engagement, physical well-being, civic engagement, creativity, and lifelong learning.

Research proves that people who participate in programs like those at The Center incur lower health care costs, have a more positive outlook on life and give back to the community volunteers.

COMMUNITY PARTNER HIGHLIGHT

PIEDMONT MASTER GARDENERS

Even in a holistic approach to healthy aging, environmental wellness is easy to overlook. The Piedmont Master Gardeners make an invaluable contribution to The Center and the community through the rose and pollinator gardens. This beautiful outdoor space offers accessible natural surroundings and educational opportunities to members and visitors. The pollinator garden is also a certified monarch waystation! In addition to weekly gardening sessions, the Master Gardeners lead informative presentations every other month on topics such as pruning and plant-friendly de-icing.

UNIVERSITY OF VIRGINIA

The Center and UVA enjoy multiple beneficial relationships. UVA Dietitians frequently demonstrate healthy recipes for members, and the SIM (Social Issues in Medicine) program brings first-year medical students to The Center as volunteers, giving them insight into a population that is sometimes overlooked. In September, a pilot UVA program offered Center members the opportunity to participate alongside undergraduates in an Introduction to Native American Indigenous Studies class. Bringing together young people and elders created a richer, more meaningful experience for all.

ALBEMARLE
CHARLOTTESVILLE
HISTORICAL SOCIETY

The Albemarle Charlottesville Historical Society offers our community excellent outlets for lifelong learning. Its Speaker Series hosted at The Center has brought many expert authors and researchers to share interesting chapters of local history, from well-known Virginia presidents to oft-overlooked POW camps in WWII. Its exhibit of Frances Brand's "Firsts" in The Center's art gallery highlighted notable women, civil rights leaders, pioneers in various fields, and those who broke color lines and shattered glass ceilings.

SKV GROUP

For many of our members, financial wellness is as critical as physical fitness. Jorgen Vik of SKV Group leads the monthly Money and You discussion as well as other seminars to help members prepare for retirement or understand investments. SKV Group also generously supports our veterans' programming, including several monthly support groups. A sponsored trip to the National D-Day Memorial and a very well-attended screening of the Army/Navy football game were highlights.

PROGRAMMING HIGHLIGHTS

In FY23, expanded hours and community partnerships helped The Center grow its programming to over 150 programs a week, reaching more older adults in the Charlottesville area than ever before.

The Center's core programs address wellness from every angle, promoting physical activity; social ties; lifelong learning; resilience and independence; positive cognitive and behavioral outcomes; and emotional rewards. New programming responds to the ever-changing needs and interests of diverse older adults, empowering them to take charge of their own wellbeing.

Community concerns about financial security have inspired popular series helping retirees maximize their savings. Optimizing Social Security, accessing benefits, improving long-term care, and using home equity are just a few of the topics we covered in FY23.

Pride programs address the alienation and isolation that is disproportionately experienced by LGBTQ+ older adults. The Center is the only organization in our area offering these kinds of opportunities to gather among peers in a safe and welcoming environment.

Connections at The Center stretched far and wide as we welcomed authors, filmmakers, artists, academics, musicians, and more to bring their unique perspectives to special events. We hosted Rosalyn Story for the Virginia Festival of the Book and Margot Lee Shetterly for an interview and signing of Hidden Figures.

We screened documentaries about Black churches that emerged after Reconstruction in Fluvanna, the lasting effects of "urban renewal" on Charlottesville's Vinegar Hill neighborhood, and the many descendants—Black and white—of Virginia planter John Clay.

These are just a few of the highlights from a full and rich year of programming designed to reach as many older adults as possible, improving quality of life, and ensuring healthy aging can be enjoyed by all.

A Joyful Noise

The Center honored 28 local Black activists for Black History Month, culminating in A Joyful Noise, a gospel celebration featuring three local choirs.

ANCHORS AWEIGH!

CENTER SOIREE SHOWCASES HEALTHY AGING

On September 10, 2022, over 250 people boarded the S.S. Center for The Center Soiree: Anchors Aweigh and raised over $100,000 to support healthy aging in our community. Talented musicians, tasty cuisine, and signature cocktails peppered the building and grounds as guests enjoyed several cruise-themed healthy aging activities. Cruisers tested their sea legs with a balance challenge on the Fitness Boardwalk, challenged their recall on games of skill and chance in the Casino, supported service projects for local organizations, and even turned a Speakeasy visit into a lifelong learning opportunity.

AWARDS

The Center has been recognized both locally and internationally this year for exceptional work. The Community Climate Collaborative commended The Center for Excellence in Energy Efficiency, noting that our state-of-the-art building has the lowest pound-for-pound emissions among any member of Charlottesville's Green Business Alliance. The International Council on Active Aging named The Center one of the top five community centers in North America.

TO OUR COMMUNITY OF DONORS, THANK YOU!

The Center gratefully acknowledges every individual, foundation, corporation, and organization that supported healthy aging in our community with their philanthropic gifts in FY23 (April 1, 2022 through March 31, 2023).

Thank you!
